

This is the key book for the 2045 inquest into how and why science lost its way.

A subsidiary book is Bruce Charlton; "Not Even Trying".

<http://www.ivorcatt.co.uk/x8ahcharlton.html>

- Ivor Catt 16.1.2030

Silencing Scientists and Scholars in Other Fields: Power, Paradigm Controls,
Peer Review, and Scholarly Communication

by Gordon Moran

Ablex Publishing Corporation
Greenwich, Connecticut
London, England

Preface

Many persons have been of invaluable help in making this book possible. Michael Mullory has been, and continues to be, a collaborator in studies relating to the Guido Riccio controversy. Miles Chappell, Alice Wohl, John Agnew, Craig Smyth, Eve Hornbush, Giuliano Catoni, Neil MacGregor, Koos Wynia, Rodolfo Bechelloni, and Giorgio Sacchi have provided help in getting ideas published at crucial times in the Guido Riccio debate.

When the Guido Riccio controversy led to problems of peer review, scholarly communication, and academic librarianship, a number of scholars, led by John Swan, helped place the situation within the parameters of academic and intellectual suppression case studies. These scholars include Brian Martin, Serge Lang, Hans Ruesch, Bill Kutz, Hazel Bell, Harold Hillman, Ivor Catt, Ralph Eubanks, Herbert Morton, Walter Stewart, Ned Feder, Gaudenz Freuler, Franco Fillippini, Federico Di Trocchio, Michiel Tegelaars, Wilfred Cude, Moti Nissani, Juan Miguel Campanario, Dirk Pereboom, Guy Ankerl, Peter Hennon, Ellen Altman, Robert Fugmann, Ilio Calabresi, and especially Robert Hauptman. Jonathan Bush has been a constant support throughout these studies. Many librarians and archivists have given outstanding help and advice.